Halibut Fisherman Goes Insane.

M. R. Ackley, a member of a halibut crew from Seattle who has been fishing in west coast waters, was brought to Wrangell Monday by his shipmates for an examination to his sanity. From the story of Ackley's own son, Ackley Sr., had been confined for the same trouble previously and had been released. Ackley was declared insane by the jury and will be taken south by Deputy Schnabel probably on the Humboldt.

Saturday's Big Games

The big games of the Eastern gridions last Saturday resulted in Harvards defeat of Yale 20-0, West Point 23, Syracuse 7 and Annapolis 39, New York University 0.

Practical Version.
Mrs. Knicker—Laugh and the world laughs with you. Mrs. Bocker—Weep and you get a present.—New York Sun.

Something New In Push Carts.

—?—?—?—Look Yonder! was the startling exclamation exploded under the ed's window Tuesday morning just after the Humboldt's half hour whistle had called him from Dreamland. The ed was up in a jiffy expecting to see a Niagara, a Panama Canal or a three ring Circus on Front Street, Wrangell Alaska, but it was the City Store's new motor delivery wagon that had caused the excitement. The truck, a Chase of about 25 horsepower, was delivered on the Humboldt and will be used in hauling freight for the City Store. Any detailed information can be obtained from any small boy for they were all there all day except during school hours—Incidentally it is the first motor truck brought to Wrangell.

Murphy—Thin 'tis a liberal policy the smooth jawed young man said ye?
Casey—Yis. Shure, there are some vry attractive indimities if I git hurt playin' golf or polo or drivin' me own aeroplane.—Puck.

Princess May Takes Wrangell Passengers.

The passengers from Wrangell on the Princess May, southbound last Friday evening were: Capt. Bragg, J. H. Lyons, Mrs. H. Garlley, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Grant and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Clarke. Mr. Lyons goes south to accept a government position at Bremmerton Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant will visit relatives in Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Clarke will visit California Cities. On account of weather the May did not leave until 12 o'clock ship's time.

Explanation of New Chinese Flag.

The new Republican Flag in five stripes, red, yellow, blue, white and black, signifies "the five united peoples of the Republic of China." The red stands for China, yellow for Manchuria, blue for Mongolia, the white for Tibet, and a part of Siberia comes in under black.

The adoption of this Flag was the result of letters from all the districts which have declared their independence of the Manchu dynasty received at the Revolutionary Headquarters in Shanghai offering to unite under the Republican banner. It was explained that upon receipt of these offers the Revolutionary Leaders held a big Meeting and decided upon the Flag which represents the "United Countries of Asia."

Chinese Students commenting on the new Flag expressed the opinion that the five races which inhabit the Empire are represented by the colours rather than the countries. They say that instead of the black representing a part of Siberia it represents the Mohammedans of the North-West, as well as those scattered throughout the Empire, and instead of the white simply standing for Tibet it covers all the aborigines including those who inhabit Tibet.

The Sentinel is indebted to C. Denny for the above explanation received by mail from C. W. Gies, ship's Barber on the Steamer Minnesota, plying between Seattle and the Orient. Mr. Gies was at one time Ships Barber on the Cottage City and 26 years ago was a shipmate of Mr. Denny on the Northwestern, running to Australia.

Houseless Town.

Southern Tunis boasts of a houseless town having a population of 5,000 people. They are troglodytes, whose fathers before them lived in similar caves.

Robbers Strip Launch Fittings.

Some time late last week some sneak thief, or thieves, boarded the launch Bayfield, at anchor in the bay, and stripped the Engine of its fittings, effectually disabling the boat. J. W. Hendrickson, part owner of the boat, discovered the loss Friday when he rowed out to the launch. No clue of the thief can be found and he probably will enjoy the fruits of his criminal energy.

Olympic Restaurant Changes Ownership.

As reported in the Sentinel last Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Childs, of Pasadena, California, arrived in Wrangell Sunday on the Al-Ki and took over the ownership and management of the Olympic Restaurant Tuesday. Mr. Childs was formerly interested in a transfer firm in Pasadena.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Notice is hereby given that the Municipal Tax Roll, of the Town of Wrangell, Alaska, for the year 1912, is now in my possession and that the said tax is now due.

The said taxes may be paid, and the amounts due will be received at my office in the "Matheson Store Building" Front Street, Wrangell, Alaska, on and after the date of this notice.

All Municipal Taxes for the year 1912, become delinquent on the 23d day of December of said year and thereafter an additional five per cent will be added to the said delinquent list.

Given under my hand and seal this 11th day of November, 1912,

F. MATHESON
Town Treasurer.

The Burglar's Jimmy.

Why does the burglar call the tool with which he opens windows and doors a "Jimmy?" No one seems to be sure. Perhaps it is merely a pet name. The French burglar calls his jimmy "Frere Jacques," which is first cousin to "Jimmy."

It's There All Right.
Cityite—You advertised that there was a fine stream of water on your farm. Farmer—Well, so there is. Cityite—I don't see it. Farmer—You will if you work the pump handle a few seconds.—Boston Transcript.

Washington's End.
Washington survived the perils of the wilderness, the dangers of Indian warfare, all the bullets and balls of a score of Revolutionary battles and the hardships of a seven years' campaign, only to be bled to death by his doctors.

Our Early Newspapers.
The first American newspaper was published in 1704, and to 1788 there were seventy-eight published, sixteen of which were conducted by women and fourteen of which were the firm champions of liberty and equal rights.

Ready to Oblige.
Little James, while at a neighbor's, was given a piece of bread and butter and politely said, "Thank you."
"That's right, James," said the lady. "I like to hear little boys say 'Thank you.'"
"Well," rejoined James, "if you want to hear me say it again you might put some jam on it."—Washington Post.

TRY TO SEE CLEARLY.

The greatest thing a human soul ever does in this world is to see something and tell what it saw in a plain way. Hundreds of people can talk for one who can think, but thousands can think for one who can see. To see clearly is poetry, prophecy and religion all in one.—Ruskin.

Dramatic Deaths.
What is a dramatic death? Of course the most dramatic death ever recorded was that of Placut, who dropped dead while buying a bill. Then there was the death of Fabius, who was choked by a hair in some milk; that of Louis VI., who met his doom because a pig ran under his horse and caused him to stumble; that of Saufelus, who was poisoned by the albumen in a soft boiled egg, and that of Zeuxis, who died from laughter at sight of a hag he had painted.

Starboard and Port.
Why do the sailors call the right hand side of the ship "starboard" and the left hand "port?" For the answer it is necessary to go back to the days of the Norsemen and Saxons. In the viking ships the warriors hung the "bords," or shields, on the side of the ship above the places for their oars. The viking himself held the steer oar, which was fastened to the right hand side of the stern. Thus the right hand side of the ship became known as the steer side, and as the bords of the warriors were hung there it was called the "steerboard," or starboard side, while the lower, or lurking side, became the larboard. Bord eventually became corrupted into port.

The Human Body's Tireless Organs.
Man has within him a stationary engine called his heart, which, with its veins and arteries, constitutes a perfect system of hydraulics, compared with which man's best work is clumsy, intricate and wasteful. The lungs are a working bellows, the most perfect method of sanitary ventilation. The stomach is a working vat of marvelous perfection. The brain is a wondrous condenser, and the skin is a great working evaporator, with reserve automatic appliances ready for extra work in moments of need. All these are in action at all times, day and night, tireless, unceasing, self winding and re-pairing, for seventy years or more.

Dog Justice.
A dog had been worried by another dog of greater size and strength, and when he returned to his home it was observed that he abstained from half the proportion of his allotted food and formed a kind of store of his savings. After some days he went out and brought several dogs of the vicinity back and feasted them upon his board. This singular proceeding attracted the attention of his master, who observed that all the dogs went out together. Following them, he found they proceeded to the outskirts of the town, where the leader singled out a large dog, which was immediately assailed by all the guest dogs and severely punished.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Chills and Hot Baths.
Hot water bathing is beneficial in counteracting the effect of a chill. First, it undoes another mischief worked by the chill. The latter has sent too much blood internally, so risking congestion. Heat brings the blood to the surface. Heat is not life, but it is one of the factors of life. Indeed, dissolution always occurs when the internal bodily temperature is greatly lowered. Heat will not keep a body alive and great heat will kill it. In many morbid states of the system, as rheumatism, hot baths are of great service. Warm baths are useless. The heat should be as great as can be borne without pain.

The Only Kind He Knew.
One of the lessons at an east end school was reading from the daily paper. Recently one pupil put the sentence, "The king and his escort passed by."
"Now, boys," asked the master, "do any of you know what the word 'escort' means?"
The class thought deeply, and then one grubby little paw was waved violently aloft.
"Yes, Jimmy," said the master, "tell me what it is."
"Please, sir," cried Jimmy in triumph, "it's a feller what's got a girl, ah' 'e takes 'er out walkin'!"—Boston Post.

LOVE YOUR WORK.

Work thou for pleasure; paint or sing or carve
The things thou lovest, though the body starve.
Who works for glory misses oft the goal;
Who works for money coins his very soul.
Work for work's sake, and it well may be
That these things shall be added unto thee.

Mysterious Fire Explained.
A German motorist the other day discovered the most extraordinary cause of a fire starting in the carburetor of his automobile that has ever been brought to public notice, says the Scientific American. Noticing a leak in his carburetor connections, he stopped the car in a completely deserted road in full sunlight. There was no spark, fire, match, broken insulation or any other thing that could possibly have caused the gasoline to catch fire, yet in a few moments the carburetor was ablaze. Luckily the motorist was something of a scientist, and he started on an investigation of the "why and wherefore"—after he had managed to extinguish the fire. To his surprise, he discovered that the catch on the convex front lens of the headlight had become unfastened and the lens had swung around in such a manner that the sun's rays became focused directly on the leaky connection at the carburetor, a highly effective burning glass being thus responsible for the "inexplicable" blaze.

Railway Routes

In Alaska.

United States Geological Survey Issues Reports on Available Routes and Estimates of Cost.

The full industrial development of inland Alaska is possible only by constructing railways that will furnish transportation to open ports on the Pacific. Though Alaskans have long been clamoring for adequate transportation facilities, the general public outside of the Territory has only recently begun to understand that the opening of the mineral wealth and arable lands of this great empire is a matter of national importance. Many plans have been proposed for building railways in Alaska either by public or by private enterprise, and various measures are now before Congress dealing with this subject.

Because of the general interest in this situation, a report issued by the United States Geological Survey entitled "Railway Routes in Alaska," by Alfred H. Brooks (Bulletin 520-A), has just been reprinted. This report briefly summarizes all the data available bearing on the location of a railway which shall connect Fairbanks, on the Tanana, with one of the several possible coastal terminals on the Pacific seaboard. The distance to tidewater by the several routes varies from 350 to over 600 miles. Experienced engineers have estimated the average cost per mile of constructing this line at $40,000.

FOR SHEEP PROTECTION.

Automatic Gun and Searchlight For Scaring Wild Animals.

An invention to protect sheep from the inroads of wolves, coyotes and other animals of prey upon the herds has been devised by E. C. Winchester of Thermopolis, Wyo., and has been pronounced by sheepmen of that region to be the most practical device for scaring away wild animals and keeping the sheep together at night that has yet been offered.

The machine consists of an automatic gun which will shoot a blank cartridge every thirty, forty or sixty minutes, as arranged, while a bullseye lantern is so adjusted as to revolve and flash its light in every direction. It makes more than one revolution a minute, operating by means of a coiled spring and cogwheels—a sort of clockwork. In fact the mechanism is inclosed in a storm and dust proof metal case and mounted on four adjustable legs. It has a weight of twenty-five pounds, so that it can be carried with the sheepman's outfit with no difficulty.

A Spare Room.

Prospective Tenant—Yes, it's a nice little barroom. Emma. What could we see it for?—London Opinion.

An Indiscriminate Charmer.
She's slim of form and fair of face.
Possessed of every charm and grace.
And as each morn I pass her place
She smiles at me
Reverently!

And, oh, the stunning clothes she wears!
Each week she in new garb appears.
It seems that no expense she spares
To please my eye
As I pass by.

Alas, she does not keep her smiles
For me alone! Her witching wiles
Are for the giddy throng that flies
Along the way
From day to day.

Yet, after all, 'tis naught to me
That she expends so lavishly
Her smiles on all, because, you see,
She's in a big shop front displayed—
Of was she's made!

—Judge.

An Automatic Waiter.

An Australian has invented an electric waiter for hotels and restaurants, operated by the customer seated at his table. A wooden frame holding the menu card is fitted with push buttons opposite each item, and "pressing the button" rings a bell in the kitchen and displays the order and the table number. The kitchen apparatus also prints a check the original of which comes to the customer, with a duplicate on an endless tape. This device has been in successful use in New Zealand.

Improved Coal Carrier.

An improved type of coal carrying vessel has just been launched at Rlyth, near Newcastle, England, which, in the opinion of experts, will begin a new era in the building of cargo ships. The vessel is constructed on what is known as the "arch" principle, which, it is claimed, offers important advantages over boats of the ordinary type, with a dead weight of 3,100 tons and a draft of eighteen feet four inches. It is asserted to be the fastest collier built, and it will be used for coaling purposes in connection with the British fleet. Smaller capital outlay, cheaper maintenance and increased rate of speed are among the favorable features claimed for the vessel.

Brick the Best Fireproof Material.

Studies of the ruins of conflagrations, as well as of many other fires, have shown conclusively that hard burned brick forms the most efficient fireproofing material we have at the present time. This seems to be due both to the homogeneous texture of brick and to its small size. The hardest burned brick may spall somewhat on the outer face, but the face next to the steel does not heat dangerously and the numerous joints relieve to a great degree the effects of expansion. Unfortunately, brick is the most expensive kind of fireproofing.—Engineering Magazine.

To Temper a Chisel.

Heat the chisel to a low heat, so as not to raise the scale, and dip into a brine of salt and water in quantities of one and ten quarts respectively. Leave heat enough in the tool to allow it being run down to a required hardness, which is designated by the pigeon blue color. The chisel should be made stout enough to resist a pressure which in using would tend to spring it when put to a test.
